Not too big and not too small

If you find the STAVANGER® XL1000 too big and the XL2000 too small, you will make the right choice with this backpack. Identical in width and height, the XL2100 is exactly in the middle with a depth of 21 cm. Two backpack halves of different heights can be individually equipped according to your ideas with the help of our standard and system modules. If the normal system and container modules fit on one side, there is room in the lid for the container modules in sizes MF, MMF and LF, which are only 4 cm high and therefore flat.
